

The image shows a well-lit, modern office lobby. On the left, a staircase with grey carpeting and a dark wood handrail leads upwards. The floor is made of dark wood planks. In the center, there is a glass-paned door leading to another room. To the right, a wooden bench with grey cushions and a matching armchair are positioned. A small round table with a vase of white flowers sits between them. The walls are white with dark wood trim, and the ceiling has recessed lighting. A framed picture hangs on the right wall.

LORD, KOBRIN, ALVAREZ & FATTELL CASE STUDY

CREATING ENHANCED SPACES.

Lord, Kobrin, Alvarez & Fattell LLC law firm imagined a more modern office space that also spoke to tradition and function.

They wanted their new workspace to prioritize the employee and client experience.

We held multiple design workshops with our client to develop the design and create a space that was in line with their firm's branding.

REDESIGN.

We chose a contemporary scheme that also spoke to traditional law firm design. To incorporate the historic style of the building, we used a neutral color palette and updated the grand staircase with a textured rug.

Since client privacy is a key priority in a legal workplace we made sure our design conveyed a message of confidentiality to their clients and employees.

We wanted the office to equally provide a welcoming space for clients.

REINVENTING LEGAL FIRM INTERIORS.

A modern and inviting design was perfect for client-facing spaces.

Being experts in designing for legal firms, the final space has effectively transformed the client and employee experience.

The design is one that will leave a lasting impression and speaks to the feeling of privacy and professionalism for their clients.
